

I am strongly against deregulation of mass media. We need a varied and strong media in this country. The large conglomerates serve their purpose, but to allow them to buy up media outlets and homogenize the view of the world that we as a country see does a disservice to our democracy and way of life as free thinking americans. Please do not go forward with these plans to let the dissemination of information on a mass scale rest in the hands of a few enormous coporations.
